

The Formentera Council tourism department reports that today through Sunday March 31 island representatives will be promoting Formentera at San Sebastián's SEVATUR travel expo. Formentera has its own stand at the expo, with information about outdoor activities for families even after the traditional summer season.

Alluding to the Basque country's comparatively chilly climate, promotion chief Carlos Bernús affirmed visitors at the expo are “very keen...on not just our island, but our weather too”. Formentera is the only Balearic island with representation at SEVATUR.
